

Breakfast with Senior Fellows and Friends!

Are you enjoying your work? Do you feel like you're making a difference, or are you looking for a way to reenergize?

You are invited to show up at the Corner Bakery next week, have coffee or breakfast, and enjoy fellowship with other advocates of good government. We will use the Dog Days of summer to begin planning new ways to celebrate each other's strengths. Connections will be made! Fun will be had! Together, we will discover new ways to increase our efficacy. Make this the year that you climb out of the box or lend someone else a hand.

The café is located at 14th & F Streets, NW, in the same building as the National Press Club. Metro Center is two short blocks away, the 11Y Metro bus stops just outside, and parking lots abound in the neighborhood.

Can't make it this time? Begin thinking about what you really want from your work and what others need from you. There is no time to waste; it matters what we do.

We'll meet again on September 26 (if not before), when Dr. Judith Ann Pauley and Mr. Joseph F. Pauley, who also had a federal government career, will breakfast with us and tell us about their travel and university teaching on "Process Communication."
